The Age of Sail

Scenario 2: The Baltic, 1801

Orders

Your task is to compel the surrender of Copenhagen and destroy the Russian Baltic fleet.

You must do this in 4 turns.

Admiral Hyde Parker is in command, but Lord Nelson is the leader positively impacting combat. The fleet consisting of 23 battleships and 10 frigates starts the game united, with Parker in direct control of 11 ships of the line, Nelson 12; each commander controls 5 frigates. Note, Parker could command the entire fleet; Nelson can only command 12 ships of the line in total and 5 frigates in total.

The enemy fleet in combination equals yours. Together, they can stave off defeat and force you from the Baltic Sea. However, the extent of the cooperation of the members of the alliance is uncertain and they start the game widely separated.
